

Reinforcing Polyester Fabric

For Professional Use Only

DESCRIPTION

- Three ounce stitchbond polyester reinforcing fabric.
- Combination of high strength properties and good elongation for exceptional thermal stress force accommodations.
- One of the strongest materials for reinforcement in cold process roofing.

RECOMMENDED USES

Everstitch 272 is used in the reinforcement of cold process roofing. Additionally, it is used as a flashing reinforcement with mastics and elastomeric. Everstitch 272 is excellent for reinforcing seams and details in many roofing applications and narrow width is excellent for seam applications in metal roof restorations and single ply restoration. Everstitch 272 is a medium soft product that will conform to smooth surfaces. To ensure good coating embedment and air pocket removal light brooming may be necessary.
